

formula for story:

1. I will set the stage for my story by talking about my love for gymnastics.
2. The plot of my story will thicken when I talk about my parents and me getting stuck in traffic in Atlanta before one of my big gymnastics competitions.
3. The turning point of my story will be when my parents found an alternate route of mapquest and my coach postponed my routine.
4. The resolution for my story will be that I was able to get to my meet and compete.

Spring 2014

A snapshot of how my personal narrative will begin:

The whole Jones
family was packed in our Tahoe and on our way to Atlanta, GA. I was going to one of my last gymnastic meets
of the spring season.
